Vietnam War Lull Is Continuing

By RICHARD PYLE
Associated Press Writer
SAIGON (AP) — A lull continued across South Vietnam's battlefields today as Gen. Earle G. Wheeler, chairman of the U.S. Joint Chiefs of Staff, flew here from Washington to assess the four-week-old slowdown in the war.

The U.S. Command reported 16 Communist shelling attacks Tuesday night and early today, none of them resulting in serious casualties or damage.

One American was killed and six wounded in the only reported ground action, the ambush of a U.S. truck convoy north of Saigon Tuesday.

In Washington, Defense Secretary Melvin R. Laird told the Senate Foreign Relations Committee Tuesday that U.S. forces are still under orders to maintain maximum battlefield pressure on the enemy. But under senatorial prodding, he said: "This whole matter is under review." This was taken in Washington to mean that the Nixon Administration is considering the possibility of scaling down U.S. offensive operations in response to the slack-off in enemy action.

The U.S. Command has shrugged off the possibility that the lull, which began June 21, might represent a de-escalation by the enemy or have other political significance. U.S. officials in Saigon say the slowdown more likely is for regrouping and reorganizing before another "high point" in the Communist summer campaign.

Captured documents and other intelligence data suggest strongly that another "high point" will occur before the end of July, officers say.

Allied field operations have continued at their usual levels. The sources said U.S. strategy is one of "pre-empting enemy operations and stirring up the battlefield" by conducting many small-scale patrols and searches to find arms and supply caches while keeping the enemy moving and off-balance.

Informed sources said pre-emptive operations in the first six months of 1969 have netted more than 3,000 tons of food, 1,002 tons of ammunition, and more than 9,000 weapons.

The U.S. Command said the convoy ambushed Tuesday was 65 miles north of Saigon when North Vietnamese troops opened fire from both sides of the road. The trucks raced through the rocket grenade and rifle fire and reached their destination, although some vehicles were damaged, U.S. sources said.

Armored troops guarding the convoy and helicopter gunships attacked the enemy positions, but a ground sweep afterward yielded only one enemy body.

U.S. troops searched the northern slopes of Black Virgin Mountain near Tay Ninh City and found nothing but "a bunch of caves and empty bunkers," a military source said. Enemy soldiers who had been holed up in the mountain "may have pulled off, but some may still be in the mountain," the source said. "There are hiding places up there—it's loaded with deep caves and bunkers."

U.S. fighter-bombers, artillery and B52s pounded the northern slopes of the mountain last week and again Monday after intelligence reports indicated that the troops there were ready for an offensive against Tay Ninh City.

The South Vietnamese government claimed today that a record 85.6 per cent of the country's population now lives in areas under its control.

The government's June report on the pacification program said the population controlled by the Viet Cong had shrunk to 6.9 per cent, with the other 7.5 per cent living in "contested" areas.

El Salvador Pushes War in Honduras

By ARY MOLEON
Associated Press Writer
SAN SALVADOR, El Salvador (AP) — Ignoring a call from the Organization of American States for a cease-fire, El Salvador pressed its invasion of Honduras today and demanded that the Honduran army "surrender before being defeated on the battlefield."

Diplomatic sources in San Salvador said Salvadoran forces appeared to have penetrated as much as 20 miles inside Honduras. The Honduran government claimed that its troops "are fighting valiantly... pushing back the enemy attack."

A seven-nation peace keeping committee dispatched by the OAS arrived in San Salvador Tuesday night to seek a cease-fire in the two-day-old war, but there was no immediate indication of success.

Salvadoran government sources said the army was driving toward the Honduran capital of Tegucigalpa in two columns—one oade up of tanks, artillery and motorized vehicles moving along the South Highway, part of the Pan American Highway, and the other an infantry force marching through the mountains.

Tegucigalpa is about 40 miles from the Honduras-El Salvador frontier, but nearly 75 miles by highway from El Amatillo, where the armored column reportedly crossed the border.

The capitals of both countries were under curfew and blackout Tuesday night, but rain appeared to have temporarily halted air attacks by the World war II vintage planes of the two Central American republics.

Twelve planes, eight of them Honduran, reportedly have been shot down.

Honduran medical personnel reported civilian and military casualties were heavy on both sides of the border, but no government casualty reports were available from either side.

Fighting was reported savage and often hand-to-hand along the border. A report from Tegucigalpa said university students were ready to man hospitals and medical tenters to aid the wounded expected to arrive today from the battlezones.

Honduran planes on Tuesday bombed the international airport outside San Salvador and a Standard Oil of New Jersey refinery 25 miles away. El Salvador admitted several gasoline storage tanks were hit, and the column of smoke could be seen in the capital.

The war began Monday night when Honduras reported two stab wounds into its territory from El Salvador. The Salvadorean government said its invasion was launched to prevent an attack by Honduran forces massed on the border for an invasion.

The council of the OAS in Washington approved a resolution calling for the two nations to suspend hostilities and settle their differences peacefully. It asked the peacekeeping committee to report its findings and recommendations "in the shortest time circumstances may allow."

The undeclared war climaxed years of tension between overcrowded El Salvador and fertile, sparsely populated Honduras next door. Some 300,000 Salvadoreans have moved across the border in recent years, and El Salvador says hundreds have returned recently reporting they were victims of atrocities.

Arm Talks With Russia Draw Near

WASHINGTON (AP) — Arms limitation talks with the Soviet Union could begin in the second week of August according to word of a completely informal and unofficial kind from the Russians, administration sources report.

Policy makers here still are shaping their position. But it is hoped the information is correct because the administration is said to want some sort of moratorium set for at least part of the nuclear weapons family before the year is out.

Official word is expected with the return of Soviet Ambassador Anatoly Dobrynin from Moscow consultations.

The United States, officials say, is ready to cede on-site inspection for the preliminary moratorium, say, on further missile deployment by either side. This would be monitored by existing intelligence methods.

With a preliminary freeze in effect the negotiators could then move toward a master agreement for halting all kinds of strategic nuclear weapon deployment—with on-site inspection.

The central issue in the negotiations is whether the two great powers can freeze their weapons systems at about the present level and thus save billions of dollars and rubles over the next few years, or whether they can obtain relative security only by continuing to escalate the arms race.

Drowns in Rescue Try for Son

SEARCY, Ark. (AP) — Mrs. Catherine Secoy, about 38, of Searcy, drowned Tuesday when she jumped into the Little Red River about one mile north of Searcy.

Authorities said the woman's 10-year-old son was swimming when he was washed over a spillway. They said Mrs. Secoy jumped into the water, apparently to rescue the child.

E. A. "Pop" Howell, 78, of Searcy, swam to the boy and hoisted him into the branches of a tree in the stream. He said he saw Mrs. Secoy go under.

Television and Radio

By JERRY BUCK
AP Television-Radio Writer
NEW YORK (AP) — David Frost is a listener. That's a rarity on talk shows, where so many people are waiting to blurt out their own provocative thoughts.

"I think the key thing is to listen," says Frost. "Not to go off to the next thing, but to let what your guest says trigger what you ask."

"If I had planned to talk to somebody for 10 minutes and he turns out to be marvelous I'll talk to him for half an hour."

Frost is taking over the spot vacated by Merv Griffin, who moves to a late-night hour on CBS. Frost's syndicated show premiered last week in most areas and will be seen in 55 cities.

This is the 30-year-old British satirist's second venture into American television. Five years ago he unsuccessfully tried to transfer "That Was The Week That Was" from England.

He's had his own talk show in London three nights a week for several years and hopes that this transplant will be more successful.

How ill an Englishman go in the Midwest? "I say July Carne, Richard Burton and the Beatles have struggled through," he said. "I think in a sense it's an advantage. I get a fresh approach to things. The voice will help, too."

The voice, couched in a disarming English accent, is one that allows Frost to say outrageous things and ask embarrassing questions without offending.

Frost said he would seek out people who usually don't appear on talk shows. So far he has proved himself right. In his first show he had Prince Charles and Ed Sullivan. Although he treated them with kid gloves, the interviews were revealing and interesting.

Frost has dispensed with the usual sofa and, like Dick Cavett, he has no sidekick. "Or as someone in Dallas asked, are you going to have an amanuensis? I said no. That's Latin for second banana."

Another British import is "The Liberace Show," which premiered Tuesday night on CBS for a summer run.

Liberace is still the grandmothers' delight, and a 12-year absence from regular television has done nothing to dim his twinkling candelabra, glittering suits and effusive personality.

If you're under 35, go put on some records. If you're over 35, you'll find plenty of familiar tunes and some new personalities.

The show is sort of like "Batman." If you want to take it straight, fine. But if you detect Liberace's tongue-in-cheek approach, that's fine, too.

Jerry Buck is substituting for vacationing Cynthia Lowry.

Teen-Age Pair Held for Murder

PARKERSBURG, W. Va. (AP) — Two teen-agers have been indicted on 12 counts of murder each in connection with the June 8 house fire that killed their mother and father and their 10 brothers and sisters.

Susie Bailey, 15, and her brother, Roger, 13, originally were charged with murdering their father, but the Wood County grand jury Tuesday returned indictments charging the pair with 12 counts of murder each. They will be arraigned Friday.

Police said Susie and Roger admitted pouring gasoline throughout the Baileys' six-room, frame and tarpaper home and throwing a burning piece of paper through an open window to touch it off.

The fire, according to police, followed an argument between Susie and her father concerning her dating a first cousin.

The lone survivor of the blaze was Obie Bailey, 64, grandfather of the accused teen-agers. He jumped from a bathroom window in order to save his life.

HOW TO START A TEEN TELEPHONE SERVICE

Dear Helen: I read your article about "YOUTH LIFE LINE" in a weekly magazine, and wonder if you could tell us how to start such a telephone service for young people in our town. Our club doesn't have much money, but we're very willing. We know that teens DO need an anonymous someone to talk to, for so often they won't or can't confide in people who know them.

Good listeners who would advise on minor problems, direct deeply troubled people to the right agency, and let them know about the free help that is available (such as VD clinics) would be a great thing for this city! — WILLING WOMEN'S CLUBBERS

Dear Club Members Everywhere: A youth telephone line such as the one in Sacramento, California, takes, first of all, dedicated workers, willing to canvass the community for (unpaid) volunteers who qualify as good listeners. These include not only laymen but also professional people, to be called in emergencies. No one should be expected to donate more than one or two hours a week.

Next, you need money: Enough for telephones; plus brochures, cards, etc. advertising the service. You might find a rent-free office in a public building, if you interest the right officials. Sacramento's Town and Country Junior Women's Club started its Youth Life Line with not much more than $200; keeps it going for around $30 a month.

Third, a training program for volunteers is essential. No one should serve on the phones unless he or she has learned the fine art of NOT saying too much! Each person must be aware of all the local help agencies and which referral best suits the questioner's need. A psychiatric social worker could assist you here, and perhaps a city or county agency will lend you one for a while.

Another approach to an open ear for youth takes more money, but assures continuation. Organizations may band together, donating a monthly wage for a trained counselor who answers teen problems on a special telephone in her own home. This works successfully in Lancaster, Pennsylvania, where Teen Problems Anonymous is headed up by Optimists Club.

In several large cities, such as Los Angeles, hospitals or other agencies have assumed financial responsibilities. Your club might sound out various directors of local institutions.

No one knows better than a family relations columnist how necessary it is for young people to have a listening ear. So often they write, "I just can't talk to anyone close — I'd be too embarrassed." When they can pour out their troubles without fear of

Constitution Panel Votes Cities Aid

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — Cities would have more taxing power under proposals approved Tuesday by the state Constitutional Convention.

The delegates also okayed a measure to combine the office of lieutenant governor with that of secretary of state.

By a 78-0 vote, the convention approved a measure to let cities have bonded indebtedness equal to 20 per cent of the assessed value of land in the city.

Delegates voted 68-12 in approving a measure to let cities levy a property tax of more than five mills—the current constitutional limit — if a majority of the municipal voters approved.

A city also could levy a tax for a specified purpose now not provided for in the Constitution. Delegates adopted this measure on a vote of 64-5.

The vote on combining the lieutenant governor position with that of secretary of state was 47-33. Earlier delegates voted 71-5 in defeating a proposal to combine lieutenant governor with attorney general.

In other actions, the delegates:

—Voted 50-23 in defeating a proposal that would have prohibited a relative of any legislator from being employed by the General Assembly.

—Voted 62-16 in approving a proposal to let the legislature set the salaries of elected officials in the executive branch of government.

The convention also adopted a proposal to alter the succession to the governorship if the elected governor died while holding office, or resigned, or was removed from office.

Under the existing Constitution, the lieutenant governor would succeed to the office of governor if it became vacant. Next in the line of succession are the president pro tempore of the Senate and then the speaker of the House of Representatives.

The measure adopted Tuesday put the speaker of the House ahead of the Senate president pro tempore in the order of succession.

Delegate John Elrod of Rison, author of the measure to make lieutenant governor and secretary of state a single office, said the proposal would take effect Jan. 1, 1975, if voters approve a new constitution containing the provision.

Delegate Robert Harvey of Swift, noting that "you don't get an opportunity to do this very often in government," said combining the offices in effect eliminated the job of lieutenant governor.

This, he said, was no reflection on Lt. Gov. Maurice Britt or his predecessor, Nathan Gorton, who held the post 20 years.

Delegate Merle Peterson of Dumas spoke against the proposal to forbid hiring legislators' relatives as General Assembly employees. He said the legislature would lose some of its best workers if the measure were adopted.

The current Constitution by amendment, sets the salaries of elected officials in the executive branch.

Washington Surprises Tigers 7-3

Tim Cullen's lunar probe made a soft landing in the visitors' bullpen . . . and swept the President of the United States off his feet.

President Nixon, accompanied by astronaut Frank Borman, took in another Washington baseball game Tuesday night . . . and watched Cullen's second-inning home run launch the surprising Senators to a 7-3 triumph over Detroit.

The Senators' No. 1 supporter leaped to his feet and applauded when Cullen, who drove in four runs with a single, double and his first 1969 homer, sent the home club ahead to stay with a drive into the left field bullpen.

"I knew he (Nixon) was there and someone said Borman was in the stands," said the Senators' second baseman, whose hitting spree overshadowed a rare ground-ball triple play turned over by the Tigers.

"As I rounded second after hitting the homer, I was thinking to myself, 'I guess I showed him how to put the ball in orbit.'"

The victory, second for the Senators in the five games attended by the President this year, moved them within one game of the third-place Tigers in the American League East.

First place Baltimore trimmed Cleveland 5-1 behind right-hander Tom Phoebus and shot 14 games ahead of runner-up Boston, which split a doubleheader at New York, winning 7-6 before bowing to the Yankees 4-1. Oakland topped Seattle 6-2 and California beat Kansas City 5-2 in other AL games.

The Minnesota-Chicago game was postponed because of wet grounds.

In the National League, the New York Mets edged the Chicago Cubs 5-4; Houston downed Los Angeles 10-7; St. Louis drubbed Philadelphia 8-2; San Diego stunned San Francisco 10-3; Pittsburgh smacked Montreal 9-3 and Atlanta divided a twin bill with Cincinnati, losing 10-4 after a 9-3 victory.

President Nixon, who entertained Al Kaline and Tom Tresh of the Tigers at the White House Tuesday afternoon, appeared unexpectedly at Robert F. Kennedy Memorial Stadium just before game time, along with his daughter, Julie, and her husband, David Eisenhower.

They sat with Senators owner Bob Short in the Presidential box and were joined by Borman, who headed the Apollo 8 moon mission and had just returned from a good visit to the Soviet Union.

It was Nixon's second visit to the ballpark in six days.

After Cullen's two-run wallop, the Senators added two runs in the third inning and struck for three more with none out in the fifth for a 7-1 lead.

Then, with runners on first and second, Ed Brinkman bounced to third baseman Don Wert. He stepped on third and fired to second baseman Ike Brown, whose relay to first baseman Bill Freehan finished off the AL's first triple play of the year.

"Wasn't that something?" said Washington Manager Ted Williams, who couldn't recall seeing triple play off a ground ball during his long playing career. "And the ball wasn't hit that hard, God, it was so easy."

The Orioles snapped a 1-1 fifth inning tie on Andy Etchebarren's run-scoring single, then pulled out of reach on Boog Powell's two-run homer in the seventh, enabling Phoebus to coast to his ninth victory against two losses.

Reggie Smith drilled three singles and two doubles as the Red Sox took the opener from the Yank despite homers by Joe Pepitone and Frank Hernandez. Smith singled his first time up in the nightcap for a string of six straight hits, but Stan Bahnsen stopped him thereafter on the way to a six-hitter.

John "Blue Moon" Odom smashed a three-run homer and also pitched a six-hitter, leading Oakland past the Pilots, who have lost six in a row. Odom, 13-3, capped a five-run sixth inning burst with his third homer of the year.

Throwing errors by third baseman Paul Schaal and pitcher Bill Butler set up three eighth inning runs as the Angels subdued the Royals behind right-hander Tom Murphy's seven-hitter.

Cardinals Rip Phils by 8 to 2

By HAL BOCK

Associated Press Sports Writer
It was payday in St. Louis and May-day in Cincinnati.

Warmed by the cushion of freshly drawn paychecks in their wallets, the Cardinals responded by battering Philadelphia pitchers for 17 hits and ripping the Phillies 8-2 Tuesday night. It marked the 23rd consecutive time that the Cards have won on a payday—a streak that extends back to August 1967.

Cincinnati's Lee May, who hits his homers in bunches, had a bunch against Atlanta in a two-night doubleheader which the Reds split with the Braves. May connected twice in each game and drove in 10 runs in the twinbill as the Braves took the opener 9-8 before the Reds salvaged the nightcap 10-4.

Elsewhere in the National League, New York nipped Chicago 5-4, San Diego rapped San Francisco 10-3, Pittsburgh walloped Montreal 9-3 and Houston outlasted Los Angeles 10-7.

In the American League, Baltimore tripped Cleveland 7-1, Washington whacked Detroit 7-3, Boston split a doubleheader with New York, winning 7-3, Boston split a doubleheader with New York, winning 7-6 before losing 4-1, California trimmed Kansas City 5-2 and Oakland beat Seattle 6-2. Chicago's game at Minnesota was rained out.

If the Cards played as well the rest of the month as they do on the first and 15th—those are paydays for all major leaguers—manager Red Schoendienst would have no problems.

Julian Javier, Curt Flood, Joe Torre and Mike Shannon each tagged three hits for St. Louis and rookie Chuck Taylor, making his first major league start, went the route for the victory. Taylor also batted in two runs.

May, who socked six homers in three consecutive games back in May, tying a major league record, had two in each game against the Braves including the first grand slam of his career.

He knocked in five runs in each game, raising his season totals to 27 homers and 73 RBI. May's first game performance was overshadowed by Atlanta's Bob Aspromonte, who pinch hit a single in the eighth inning and then smacked a three-run homer in the ninth inning that gave the Braves their victory. Hank Aaron hit his 534th career home for Atlanta, tying him with Jimmy Foxx for fourth place on the alltime list.

Al Wels stroked a three-run homer—only the fifth of his eight-year major league career—helping the New York Mets take Chicago. Ken Boswell also homered for the Mets and Ron Taylor saved the victory for Gary Gentry after consecutive eighth inning homers by Billy Williams and Ron Santo knocked out the New York starters.

San Diego exploded for six unearned runs with two out in the fifth inning, knocked out Juan Marichal and beating San Francisco. Tito Fuentes' error opened the gates for the Padres. Ollie Brown unloaded a three-run homer for San Diego and Willie McCovey connected for the Giants.

Carl Taylor drilled a homer and two-run double in an eight-run Pittsburgh first inning and the Pirates pounded Montreal. Richie Hebner also homered in the first for Pittsburgh and Luke Walker won his first major league game on a three-hitter. Rusty Staub and Bob Bailey homered to account for all the Expo runs.

Houston wiped out a five-run deficit, tying Los Angeles in the fourth inning and then pushed across three more runs in the sixth to beat the Dodgers. Norm Miller, who had driven in two runs in the Astros' big fourth, knocked in the tie-breaking run with a single in the sixth.

Hits—M. Alou, Pittsburgh 130; Kessinger, Chicago 117. Doubles—M. Alou, Pittsburgh 29; Kessinger, Chicago 26. Triples—B. Williams, Chicago 9; Tolani, Cincinnati 8. Home runs—McCovey, San Francisco 28; L. May, Cincinnati 27.

NEW YORK—(NEA)—Edd Roush is 76 years old but still appears in such fine fettle that few baseball veterans would have been surprised had he held out before the recent Old-Timers' game at Shea Stadium.

Of course, nowadays a holdout or sports retirement is about as common as a campus riot. It's Joe Namath one day, Richie Allen the next, Bill Russell the day after. Doesn't anybody here want to play the game anymore?

But Roush was holding out and retiring long before it was fashionable. He rarely made it to spring training for more than a week before the season opener. Once he waited until three days before the start of the season. And once, 1930, he just waited—and waited and waited and waited. By the time he got off his front porch it was football season.

The Hall of Fame outfielder who played in three leagues, the Federal, American and National, from 1913 to 1931, and had a lifetime batting average of .312, did play in the Old-Timers' game, for fun if not for finances.

"The players now have troubles over something else, not salary, the way I did," said Roush. "I always stood up for what I was worth."

"I was 22 years old when I came up with the White Sox in 1913. I was making $125 a month, and only for five one-half months. So when the Indianapolis ball club in the Federal League got in touch with me and offered me $2,000, I went."

"In 1915 I made $4,000 in the Federal League and it would have taken me nearly 10 years to make that with the White Sox. The Federal League folded after 1915, for financial reasons."

In 1917 Roush, then with Cincinnati, led the league with a .341 batting average. The next year he lost the batting championship by two points to Zack Wheat, who hit .335.

"And do you know what happened after that season?" he asked. "They wanted to cut my salary $500. Cut it! I was making $5,000 then. I held out until three days before the season began. To this day I still don't know what they could have been thinking about."

By 1919, however, Roush was earning $15,000 a year. That season the Reds beat the White Sox in the World Series. However, some Chicago players were not trying too hard. It resulted in the Black Sox scandal.

"You just can't mess around with gamblers if you're in front of the public," said Roush. "And you can't have gamblers frequenting your place of business, the way Joe Namath does."

"We had some players on the Cincinnati ball club who wouldn't stop going to places where gamblers were. This was about nineteen and twenty-one. We got rid of them."

In 1930, Roush felt he was again being underpaid. So he decided to quit.

"I figured that if I couldn't make anything out of it, that I might as well stay home," he said. "I was 37 then. You gotta quit sometime. I felt that was as good a time as any. But the next year the team was hurt by the Depression and had to sell a lot of players. The owner asked me to come back to help draw crowds. So I went back for one more year."

Roush almost quit after the 1926 season, when he was traded to the New York Giants and John J. McGraw whom he played for in 1916.

"I didn't enjoy playing for McGraw," said Roush. "You make a bad play and he would use every swear word imaginable on you. I was going to quit and wrote him a letter telling him I would not play for him for any kind of money. He kept writing me letters and offering me more money. But I was busy hunting quail in Oakland City, Ind. Finally, he asked to see me in Chattanooga, where the team was coming north."

"I was supposed to be in his room at 8 in the morning. But I loitered around with the players in the hotel. Finally we met in his room at 12:30. After a little hassle he offered me $70,000 for three years. I said okay, but I told him that if he ever cussed me out, he was damn liable to get hurt."

"I got in uniform and played six innings that day, got two base hits in three times at bat. And I think Mr. John J. McGraw was hoping I'd break a leg."

Top Golfers Gather in Philadelphia

By BOB GREEN

Associated Press Sports Writer
PHILADELPHIA (AP)—Most of the top names in golf are coming together again for the $150,000 Philadelphia Classic, but it's a good bet that one of the newly-dominant figures in the game will walk off with the top prize.

After a two-week hiatus from the American tour to compete in the British Open, such players as Orville Moody, Lee Trevino and Billy Casper are making an appearance. Arnold Palmer was due back from a two-week rest today. Julius Boros returned from a week's layoff.

But the favorites for the $30,000 first place check probably would be found in the quartet of Frank Beard, Dave Hill, Charles Coody and New Zealand's Bob Charles.

Their credentials are among the best. They're the hottest players in the game, and, with the exception of Charles, all recent winners.

Hill, 32, has won two of his last three starts, has been sixth or better in five of his last seven tournaments and has earnings of more than $99,000, his best year ever.

The laconic Beard, 30, winner of last week's Minnesota Classic, has been fourth or better in three of his last four starts and has six finishes of fourth or higher. He has more than $93,000 in earnings but complained of being tired and said his start was "another day at the office."

He broke a two-year victory famine last week while Coody, 32 just a couple of days ago, ended a four-year drought in his last start three weeks ago, has finished in the top three in three of his last four tournaments and has over $67,000.

Charles, 33, a left-hander, hasn't won but has one of the best records on the tour. He was second in the British Open and has been in the top 10 in nine of his last 11 starts.

And, too, defending champion Bob Murphy could be a factor when the 72-hole test begins Thursday.

Among the late withdrawals from the 146-man field were Masters champion George Archer and gmason Rudolph. Tony Jacklin, the new British Open champ, South African Gary Player and Jack Nicklaus were not entered.

1 Israeli Killed in Suez Fight

TEL AVIV (AP) — One Israeli soldier was killed as Egyptian and Israeli forces traded gunfire across the Suez Canal Tuesday night and early today, the Israeli army reported.

The firing centered in the Dwid Suwar region, midway along the 103-mile waterway, a spokesman said.

In Amman, the Jordanian capital, the Palestine Armed Struggle Command said four of its guerrillas and several Israeli soldiers were killed in a clash Tuesday in the Jordan Valley, and that the Arab raiders destroyed three Israeli armored vehicles, two heavy machine guns and a radio post.

The Israeli army reported earlier that two Arab saboteurs were killed in the clash, but mentioned no Israeli casualties or damage.

The Israelis also reported two gun duels between Israeli and Jordanian forces in the Beisan Valley but said nothing about casualties.

Defense Minister Moshe Dayan told Knesset, Israel's parliament, that 119 Arab saboteurs had been killed by Israeli troops from Jan. 1 to July 7.

U of A-LRU Merger Set for Sept. 1

LITTLE ROCK ZAP — The trustees of the University of Arkansas and Little Rock University Tuesday night executed an agreement under which the two universities would merge Sept. 1.

The merger was authorized this year by the General Assembly after being endorsed since 1967 by the trustees of the U of A and the trustees of LRU.

The legislature appropriated $1 million for fiscal 1969-70 for the merger. The boards said the money would be used at the Little Rock campus to expand the staff and increase salaries of instructors.

Dr. David W. Mullins' president of the U of A, said salaries would be boosted from seven to 11 per cent.

The first priority, he told newsmen, will be to improve operations of the Little Rock campus where possible. The boost in salaries is designed to hold and attract qualified instructors, he said.

Because of the limited appropriation by the legislature, tuition at the Little Rock campus will not be as low as that on the main campus at Fayetteville, Mullins said.

However, the board voted to cut the tuition at the Little Rock campus from LRU's regular $20 per semester hour to $17 per semester hour. Over the school year, this would cost the student taking the normal number of courses about $100 less.

Mullins said the continued relatively high tuition on the Little Rock campus and the lateness of completing the merger probably would not result in a sudden, sharp increase in enrollment at Little Rock.

An attorney for the LRU board was asked about the possibility of the Donaghey Foundation filing a friendly suit to determine whether it could contribute to the merger institution at Little Rock.

However, a member of the LRU board indicated that he anticipated such a suit.

The Donaghey Foundation has provided much of the financial backing for LRU over the years.

Russians Ignore U.S. Moon Flight

MOSCOW (AP) — Moscow's morning newspapers today ignored the impending Apollo 11 flight to the moon.

Only the weekly Literaturnaya Gazeta (Literary Gazette), published today, made mention of Apollo 11. Its article was reprinted from a French magazine.

Silence also continued on Luna 15, the unmanned Soviet spaceship expected to reach the moon today or Thursday. Its specific mission has not been divulged, although some Soviet sources said it would attempt to scoop up a sample of moon soil and return it to earth.

Hailey and Rogers GF Case Begun

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — Testimony began Tuesday in Gov. Winthrop Rockefeller's attempt to oust Newt Hailey of Rogers from the state Game and Fish Commission.

Rockefeller has charged Hailey with misconduct in office and alleges four counts. Testimony was taken Tuesday in connection with these three: — That Hailey's tractor agency wrongfully sold parts to the commission while Hailey was a commissioner;

— That Hailey used the commission airplane in May 1966 to fly to El Paso, Tex., on a personal trip;

— That Hailey used the plane in October 1963 to fly to South Dakota on a pheasant hunt involving use of other commission property.

HM W. McMillan of Arkadelphia, the evidence officer, and two attorneys who make up the hearing panel, Courtney Crouch of Springdale and Heartsill Ragon of Fort Smith, were appointed by Rockefeller for the hearing.

Hailey was represented by Gene Worsham of Little Rock who contended in his opening remarks that Hailey's use of the commission aircraft was on legitimate commission business and that purchases of parts from Hailey's tractor agency predated his service on the commission.

Worsham said traditionally commissioners make visits to study wildlife and game management in other regions of the nation and Hailey's trips were legitimate in that context. He also said the continued parts purchases from the tractor agency after Hailey became a commissioner was without Hailey's knowledge and that Hailey's dealership was the only one within 90 miles that could supply the parts in question.

McMillan stipulated that the prices paid to Hailey's agency by the commission were fair prices.

Worsham moved for a dismissal of the parts-selling charge. Crouch and Ragon postponed a decision on the motion.

In a deposition, Charles Hudd speth of El Paso said that Hailey and others visited him two or three years ago in a small plane. He said he couldn't identify it as the one owned by the commission.

Huddspeth said the group stayed three or four days and that Hailey conducted no commission business to his knowledge except for praising the commission's performance in Arkansas.

John C. Spady and Mrs. Evalynn Coffee of El Paso said in depositions their flying service worked on the commission airplane on May 19, 1966, and again on May 24, 1966.

Hugh Hackler, commission director, said he knew of no commission business in El Paso when Hailey was there. He also said he did not authorize the use of the plane to fly to El Paso. In connection with the alleged trip to South Dakota by Hailey on the commission aircraft, Donald M. Donaldson of Paragould, a pilot and commission waterfowl biologist, said he flew the plane for the pheasant hunt.

Donaldson said the only purpose of the trip that he knew of was to hunt. No contact was made with any wildlife officials in South Dakota other than a biologist he knew and a game warden who showed them one area in which they hunted, he said.

Worsham brought out on cross-examination that the South Dakota trip Hailey had been a commission member only a few months.

The fourth count on which Hailey is charged is that he used the commission plane for an elk hunt in Colorado. Commissioner Raymond R. Farris of Blasco is charged with the same count and nine others.

Farris' attorney, Sam Robinson of Little Rock, moved for a continuance of Farris' case on grounds that the commissioner is ill with tuberculosis. The panel did not rule on this motion, but agreed to try the two commissioners separately on the count lodged against them jointly.

Baker Sued for Senate Funds

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Nixon administration has sued Bobby Baker for part of the money the government claims he obtained peddling influence while secretary to Senate Democrats.

The civil damage claim was filed in U.S. District Court here Tuesday, only two days before expiration of the six-year limitation on government action against one Baker contract.

The Justice Department also asked that Baker now free while appealing a 1-3 year prison sentence, be forced to give a full accounting of his net worth.

Accusing the former South Carolina farm boy of conflict of interest, the complaint asked for Baker to show how his net worth increased from $11,000 to about $1.7 million during eight years in the Senate post.

Baker served as majority secretary while former President Lyndon B. Johnson was Senate Democratic leader. He resigned under fire in 1963 after being charged in a civil suit with influence peddling.

RALLY IN!

An English Lea Francis—imaginatively equipped for rally conditions.

A very sporting movie, indeed, it turned out to be. Highly appropriate, since the plot of "Those Daring Young Men in Their Jaunty Jalopies" is constructed round the famous, annual Monte Carlo Rally endurance contest for cars. With true team spirit, babies, small dogs, veteran motorists, even producers and designers pitched in. The result is that the sense of fun about the whole enterprise is not just due to a good job of professional acting. It's an authentic spoof.

The Rally in the film takes place in the late 1920s. Today, the Rally is highly professional, but in the early years gentleman (and lady) amateurs went into the competition to test their competence, endurance—and guile.

Twenty priceless vintage cars were used to make the film, shot on locations all over Europe. The Rally starts simultaneously from five points, in Scotland, Sweden, Portugal, Greece and Salerno, Sicily; all the cars aim to converge, eventually, on Monte Carlo. It is always run in January, so there are usually plenty of natural winter hazards on the way, as well as those of ordinary roads under normal traffic conditions—which can, of course, be highly unpredictable.

The movie is produced and directed by Ken Annakin. The associate producer is Basil Keys, and screenplay is by Jack Davies and Ken Annakin. The "stars" (in alphabetical order) are Bourvil, Lando Buzzanca, Walter Chiari, Peter Cook, Tony Curtis, Mireille Darc, Marie Dubois, Gert Frobe, Susan Hampshire, Jack Hawkins, Nicoletta Machiavelli, Dudley Moore, Peer Schmidt, Eric Sykes and Terry-Thomas.

The "non-stars" put up a very fine show, too. It wouldn't be altogether accurate to call them scene-stealers, since they didn't really take anything away. Just the reverse, in fact. Perhaps a more graceful tribute to them would be "They also contributed."

This Week's PICTURE SHOW—AP Newsfeatures.

Picko Troberg, popular Swedish racing driver, works as a bit player, here with Elizabeth Ortenheim.

Deborah, 2-year-old daughter of producer-director Ken Annakin, has a pint-sized role.

Costume designer John Furniss (left) checks Peter Cook's costume; Furniss also has a small acting role.

Authentic vintage cars, adapted for modern conditions, perform spiritedly.

The rally start: six fearless crews are lined up with their cars ready for the gruelling challenge.

Sen. Long Barks on Surtax

By JOE HALL
Associated Press Writer
WASHINGTON (AP) — Chairman Russell B. Long has indicated he will not go along with a Republican move to force the surtax extension bill out of the Senate Finance Committee Thursday.

Republican Leader Everett M. Dirksen, a Finance Committee member, told newsmen he was hopeful the panel would send the embattled legislation to the Senate floor for debate at Thursday's session.

Asked about this, Long told a reporter it was up to the committee to decide how to handle the House-passed surtax bill.

But, he added "I have not invited senators to submit (reform) amendments to this bill and promised to hold hearings on them next week without intending to give fair consideration to them in the committee."

Sen. Edward M. Kennedy, the assistant majority leader, has joined a long list of Democratic senators who have accepted

Long's invitation. Kennedy said he would submit amendments in eight reform areas he felt should be considered by Finance in connection with extension of the surtax.

These include a minimum tax for the wealthy, reduction in the oil depletion allowance, more tax relief for low and middle income families, reform of the capital gains system, and modification of the tax-exemption privilege on state and local bonds.

Long said he thought Finance might accept three or four of Kennedy's amendments, but not the oil depletion allowance proposal.

Dirksen said President Nixon and his top advisers were convinced the surtax extension must be enacted soon—before the Aug. 13 recess—if the battle against inflation is to succeed.

As passed narrowly by the House, the bill would extend the 10 per cent income surtax for the last six months of this year and then lower the rate to 5 per cent during the first six months of 1970.

Long said he agreed "the pressing business now is to maintain the fiscal integrity of the federal government and give the President the tools he says are needed to contain inflation."

ABM Foes Open Up a '2nd Front'

By WALTER R. MEARS
Associated Press Writer
WASHINGTON (AP) — Senate foes on the Safeguard missile defense plan are campaigning on a second front, seeking a halt in testing of multiple warhead offensive weapons.

While the Safeguard debate rumbled on, that companion issue was before the Senate Foreign Relations Committee today.

The Weapons Involved: multiple, independently targeted reentry vehicles—MIRVs—with which the nuclear warheads on one missile could be aimed against several different targets.

Three scientists were called to testify on the MIRV controversy. The committee is considering a resolution proposed by Sen. Edward W. Brooke, R-Mass., which urges that the United States halt MIRV tests so long as the Soviet Union does the same.

Brooke has enlisted 40 cosponsors for his MIRV resolution, thus bringing it within 10 votes of a Senate majority. His aides say private pledges of support from other senators put the total past a majority.

Brooke's resolution asks that President Nixon propose an immediate U.S.-Soviet moratorium on MIRV tests.

The Pentagon said June 13 the United States is going ahead with the testing of MIRV warheads for Minuteman and Poseidon missiles.

The MIRV issue has come up repeatedly in the Safeguard debate.

Senate sources said the administration has thus far maintained a noncommittal attitude toward the Brooke resolution.

In the Safeguard contest, President Nixon was said to be firmly opposing any compromise.

Republican leaders said their latest count shows at least 50 votes, and possibly 52, lined up for deployment of the system Nixon seeks to defend U.S. offensive missile installations.

"Senate GOP Leader Everett M. Dirksen said of the President: 'He's confident that we have the votes, and so am I.'"

The next key phase of the Safeguard debate is due Thursday, when the Senate is expected to hold a secret session, with both sides hoping to buttress their arguments.

Georgia-Pacific Buys La. Forest

CROSSETT, Ark. (AP) — Georgia-Pacific Corp. said Tuesday it had bought Louisiana Forest Products Corp. for $60.5 million.

The property will be part of G-P's Crossett Division, headquartered at Crossett.

G-P bought the firm from Reigel Paper Corp. of New York and Inversk Paper Co. Ltd. of Great Britain under a stock-swap and debt assumption arrangement.

In the deal, G-P gets a 510-ton per day hardwood pulp mill at Port Hudson, La., a wood chip mill and 120,000 acres of timberland.

Ruling on Evidence Due Today

PARAGOULD, Ark. (AP) — Circuit Court Judge Charles Light is expected to rule today on a motion to suppress some evidence offered in the first-degree murder trial of Ray nauts on the eve of their departure from Earth. But he canceled the plan when space agency doctors expressed concern that Armstrong, Aldrin and Collins might catch a cold or other germ from the President.

Nixon plans to be on the aircraft carrier Hornet July 24 when Apollo 11 plashes down in the Pacific.

Glover of Paragould. The 36-year-old Glover is charged in the death of Miss Judy Evans, 21, of Rector. Her body was found March 1 in a burned car in a gravel pit near Paragould. Glover's attorney, W. D. Howard of Jonesboro, asked the judge on Monday when the trial began to quash certain evidence obtained with warrants he contends were unjustified.

There must be many more unlucky bridge players than lucky ones. At least, our experience has been that, for every person who concedes that he is lucky, we find 10 who complain about mistreatment by the gods of chance.

We sympathize with unlucky players. That is, when they're really unlucky. When they bring on their own bad luck, we sympathize with their partners.

South wanted to go to three no-trump after his partner raised him to two but he

Mikan Quits as Head of Basketball

NEW YORK (AP)— George Mikan has stepped down as commissioner of the American Basketball Association.

He announced his decision Monday as the ABA opened a two-day meeting in New York, where it is setting up its new headquarters. Mikan gave personal and business reasons for his decision.

"My home is in Minneapolis," Mikan explained. "My family is there, and I have other business interests there that demand my presence. Rather than attempt to serve the league as a commuting commissioner, I have decided to step down."

ABA headquarters are being shifted from Minneapolis to New York.

James C. Gardner of Rocky Mount, N.C., ABA president, announced that Assistant Commissioner Thurlio E. McCrady will head the New York headquarters under a new title, that of executive director. Also moving to New York is Lee L. Meade, public relations director.

Black Panthers Denounced

WASHINGTON (AP)— FBI Director J. Edgar Hoover said today that of black extremist groups the "Black Panther Party, without question, represents the greatest threat to the internal security of the country."

In his report on bureau activities for fiscal 1969, Hoover said Panther "members have perpetrated numerous assaults on police officers and have engaged in violent confrontations with police in cities throughout the country."

couldn't count more than the bare 16 points he needed for his no-trump opening.

When he looked over dummy, he was glad he had bid correctly. He counted six easy tricks. All he needed to get to eight was to set up dummy's diamond suit. He won the heart lead in his hand and went right after the diamonds.

Diamonds didn't break 3-3 as he had expected but South had a one-track mind. After East took the third diamond and led a second heart. South led another diamond to set up the last one in dummy. East won and led a spade to West. West cleared the hearts and, although South did cash one extra diamond trick, that still left him one short of his contract.

South complained about bad luck. Suits never broke for him.

He was right that diamonds had been anything but his best friend this time but he had no right to blame luck for losing his contract. When East won the third diamond and led a second heart. South should have abandoned the diamond suit and tried to double finesse in clubs. Unless both club honors were held by West, this would give South three club tricks and his contract.

THE DOCTOR SAYS

Inspect Nursing Homes Before Final Selection
By WAYNE G. BRANDSTADT, M.D.

The number of available nursing home beds has increased by nearly 25 per cent in the last three years, thus reflecting an increase in the number of elderly persons who, for one reason or another, cannot be taken care of in private homes. Nursing homes in general provide either short- or long-term care for persons who are chronically ill or disabled.

If you have to select a nursing home for a relative, friend or even for yourself, you should visit the home and find out whether it is licensed by the state or local government. Don't be afraid to ask to see the license. It should be displayed in a prominent place.

Select a home that provides the level of nursing care recommended by your doctor. Ask whether a night shift is maintained. Is a staff physician available and can you, if you prefer, have your own doctor? Is there an organized program of recreational activities? What are the visiting hours? Are there facilities for physical therapy and rehabilitation? In an emergency, is transportation available to a nearby hospital available? Ask to see a week's menus.

As you look around the premises take note of the general atmosphere, cleanliness and attitude of the attendants. And finally, get a clear statement of the basic cost and what additional charges you may expect. The more you find out before a commitment is made, the less chance for disappointment later. For more details you may want to write to the American Nursing Home Association, Suite 607, 1025 Connecticut Ave., NW, Washington, D.C. 20036.

Q—My eyes burn and itch all the time. After I rub them, they get red. I have tried wearing glasses, taking capsules for allergy, yellow oxide of mercury ointment and eye drops but nothing helps. What can I do to get relief?

A—You have conjunctivitis. Rubbing always aggravates this condition. Allergy is often the cause and, in such cases, identifying then avoiding the allergen is much more effective than antihistamine capsules or any drugs. If your trouble is caused by an infection, sulfacetamide or Neosporin eye drops should help you.

Biggest Crowd in History Jams Cape

CAPE KENNEDY, Fla. (AP) — On a muggy July night, Cape Kennedy was host to telling that something important was going to happen this morning—like a trip to the moon.

There were arguments over whether a million tourists were here or on the way, as the Chamber of Commerce predicted. Most estimates put the crowd at 500,000 to 750,000.

A steady parade streamed through restaurants, bars and cocktail parties.

Lunch blended into dinner, dinner into supper, and supper into breakfast.

A travel agency was taking reservations for future vacations to the moon in a hotel lobby.

The busiest place in town was probably the space agency's press center, where 3,000 correspondents were accredited and it took a press badge to get inside.

Motel lobbies resembled airline terminals at holiday time. Highway A1-A traffic along the 25 miles of beachfront south of the space center was bumper to bumper, punctuated with the sound of screeching brakes.

At the jetty campground, just south of the space station and one of the best viewing sites, tents, trailers and beach umbrellas were a rainbow of color. Many campers flew an American flag and one displayed an inflatable rubber rocket six feet tall.

To many, who paid $2 a night to camp and lined up to use portable toilets, it was the first visit.

"It was mostly because of our son, Randy (age 14), that we came," said Mrs. Harold McDonald of Royal Oak, Mich. But she and her husband anticipated a thrill for themselves as well.

"This is the biggest one. That's why we came," said 15-year-old Valinda Van Vaerenbergh of Tampa, Fla., speaking for her mother, grandmother and two brothers.

"We have 1,500 to 2,000 people in the campground now and we're setting up another area to take care of the late arrivals," said manager Robert Austin.

The bars did a tremendous business, but hardly anyone was drinking "the Moon Lander" specialty at one place.

The bartender said it was made of equal parts of creme de menthe, creme de cocoa and vodka, with a splash of soda and a squeeze of lime.

"We stick an American flag atop the whole mess," he said. "If you can't drink it, you can salute it."

$143,130 Grant Given Nashville
WASHINGTON (AP) — The federal Water Pollution Control Administration has offered a $143,130 grant to Nashville for water and sewer development.

The Housing and Urban Development Department has agreed to loan McCrory $14,400 for construction of 36 low-rent homes, 12 for elderly people.

Other Days Had Their Dreams, But What'll Young Fry Dream of?

By HAL BOYLE
NEW YORK (AP) — Every generation manufactures its own dreams and its own memories.

They change with each generation, of course, because time inevitably changes everything. And they contribute to the widening of the generation gap.

One wonders what memories this present generation will wind up with when it comes to the end of the road. Will they be better, worse, or more bitter-sweet than our own?

No one can tell. But one thing we do know. Today's youth won't be able, as many older folks now can, to look back and remember when—

TV and Press Gear for Big Reporting Job

LONDON (AP) — Newspapers and TV stations around the world geared up today for the moon landing of the Apollo 11 mission, and a British science fiction fan got ready to collect $24,000 on a $24 bet.

David Threlfall of Lancashire will win 10,000 pounds Sunday if astronauts Neil A. Armstrong and Edwin J. Aldrin Jr. land their lunar module on the moon.

Five years ago, Threlfall put down 10 pounds with a bookie who was offering 1,000-to-1 odds that man would not reach the moon before 1971.

All London newspapers played the Apollo story on their front pages. "WE'RE ALL READY TO FLY," bannered the Daily Sketch. The Daily Express, reporting the relaxed attitude of the three astronauts, asked in a headline: "HO HUM—ANYONE FOR THE MOON TODAY?"

British television stations scheduled live coverage through splashdown time next Thursday, and the British Broadcasting Corp. arranged to rely on the broadcasts by cable to the continent. The BBC planned to receive the signals via transatlantic satellite at a cost of up to $240 a minute.

Church bells will ring throughout Venezuela and Brazil Monday as Armstrong and Aldrin step down to the moon's surface. Plans were reported under way in Venezuela to declare the day a holiday.

Most stores here display Armstrong's picture, townsfolk fly the flags of the United States and Ohio, street banners proclaim "God's Speed Neil" and the Armstrong family church—St. Paul's United Church of Christ—planned prayer vigils during the crucial periods of the flight.

There will be no major celebration here immediately. "I don't think wild demonstrations are in good taste," said Charles Brading, chairman of the homecoming celebration. "We'll hold the excitement until everything is all right," and the astronauts return to earth July 24.

Half-Billion Favored for White River
WASHINGTON (AP)—A committee report of the Water Resources Council was released Monday suggesting about $500 million be invested in water projects and land improvements during the next 10 to 15 years in the White River Basin of Arkansas and Missouri.

The committee said the suggestions appeared too ambitious, but it recommended the report be accepted as a basis for developing proposals of various federal agencies for implementing the federal elements of the comprehensive basin plan.

The committee recommended spending some $226 million on major reservoirs, $477 million for levees and major channel improvements and $226 million on upstream projects. The committee said the projects would result in benefits of nearly $60 million a year.

2 Killed in Benton Road Crash
BENTON, Ark. (AP) — Two youths were killed Tuesday night in a one-car accident inside the Benton city limits, police said today.

The dead were identified as Jeanie Brown, 17, and Taylor M. Dickerson, 16, both of Benton. The driver of the car, William Cecil Byars, 19, of Benton, was taken to a Little Rock hospital. His condition was not known.

Police said the car ran off the side of the road into a yard and struck a tree.

Home Town Prays for Man Who Will Be the First on the Moon

By STEVE DRAKE
Associated Press Writer
WAPAKONETA, Ohio (AP) — The people of Wapakoneta, tucked deep in the hinterlands of northwestern Ohio, sent their hopes and prayers with their hometown hero—Astronaut Neil Armstrong—as he embarked today on a trip to the moon.

For eight long days this community's 7,000 residents will be concentrating on the space adventure of Armstrong and his fellow astronauts, Edwin Aldrin Jr. and Michael Collins.

For Armstrong himself, it will be a dream come true when, if all goes well, he becomes the first man to step on the moon.

His family — parents Stephen and Viola and grandmother, Mrs. William Korpeter — have planned to watch the entire flight on television in their home at 912 Neil Armstrong Drive, named for the astronaut after his successful flight in Gemini 8.

"I haven't had time to think of it," said Stephen Armstrong about the journey. "He (Neil) is more calm and collected than his mom and dad."

"Neil called this morning and we had a good chat," Mrs. Armstrong said Tuesday evening.

"It's a wonderful, tremendous experience."

Most stores here display Armstrong's picture, townsfolk fly the flags of the United States and Ohio, street banners proclaim "God's Speed Neil" and the Armstrong family church—St. Paul's United Church of Christ—planned prayer vigils during the crucial periods of the flight.

100-Degree Weather to Continue
By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Temperatures should remain above the 100-degree mark with afternoon thundershowers expected mostly in the southern portion of the state through Thursday, the U.S. Weather Bureau said today.

Dr. Werner von Braun, developer of the Apollo 11's Saturn 5 booster rocket: "No mission in the manned space flight program has been so carefully prepared. . . look with great confidence to a completely successful mission."

Sir Bernard Lovell, director of Britain's Jodrell Bank Observatory: "The time will come, within 10 years, when considerable amounts of equipment will be left on the moon and lunar bases established, and international cooperation essential. Otherwise, a very serious situation might arise, both scientifically and politically."

Vatican Radio: "May Apollo 11 unite mankind in one mind and one heart and promote common efforts to solve in peace and calm the other problems which have been long awaiting and requiring a convergence of forces."

Objective: Spend 22 Hours on Moon

CAPE KENNEDY, Fla. (AP) — Here are the facts and figures of the Apollo 11 mission:

Astronauts: Civilian Neil A. Armstrong, 38; Air Force Col. Edwin E. Aldrin Jr., 39; Air Force Lt. Col. Michael Collins, 38.

Purpose: After attaining lunar orbit, Armstrong and Aldrin fly a landing craft to a man's first landing on the moon on Sunday. They are to walk on moon for 2½ hours Monday, setting up scientific experiments, fathoming soil samples and determining ability to work in one-sixth gravity field.

Total length of time on moon: 22 hours, after which they rendezvous with Collins orbiting in command ship.

Flight duration: Eight days, 3 hours, 19 minutes.

Rocket: Three-stage Saturn 5, which, with Apollo spacecraft, stands 363 feet tall. It is the world's most powerful booster, with first stage thrust of 7.7 million pounds.

Cost of mission: Saturn 5, $185 million; Apollo 11 command ship, $55 million; lunar module, $41 million; launch operations, including recovery forces, $74 million. Total $355 million.

Total cost of Apollo program to be: $22 billion.

ABOARD USS HORNET (AP) — "The risk of the Apollo 11 astronauts returning to earth with 'moon bugs' is negligible, say the two men who will be quarantined with them for three weeks.

The quarantine is to make sure the astronauts did not pick up moon organisms that could threaten earth's inhabitants.

"The risk of bringing something back is very small," said Dr. William Carpenter, 33, of Lake Cowichan, B.C., the physician who will conduct tests on the astronauts.

"If I calculated it a sufficiently high risk I wouldn't be here," said John Hirasaki, 28, of Victor, Tex., project engineer who helped design the quarantine facility and will operate its systems during the three-week period.

Giant Saturn Rocket Puts Ship in Orbit

By HOWARD BENEDICT
AP Aerospace Writer

CAPE KENNEDY, Fla. (AP) — Reaching for a dream, America's Apollo 11 astronauts soared into earth orbit today and passed the vital first milestone of the voyage of the ages, an attempt to land men on the moon.

Civilian commander Neil A. Armstrong, Air Force Col. Edwin E. Aldrin Jr. and Air Force Lt. Col. Michael Collins started the journey on the awesome power of a Saturn 5 super-rocket that thundered from Cape Kennedy at 9:32 a.m. EDT with a roar heard round the globe.

"Houston, be advised the visual is go today," one of the astronauts said shortly after the spacecraft left the ground. "They finally gave me a window to look out."

Armstrong's first words on achieving orbit were very businesslike.

"The booster has been confirmed for orbital flight. Both spacecraft are looking good," he said. He referred to the still attached third stage of the Saturn 5 which was to ignite later to boost Apollo 11 toward the moon.

The astronauts were to circle the globe for 2½ hours to make certain the spacecraft's thousands of systems were functioning. Then, at 12:16 p.m. (EDT), they were to restart the still-attached third stage of the Saturn 5 to start toward their target, 250,801 miles away.

Barring problems, these three Columboes of the Space Age are to sail outward across a quarter-million-mile ocean of space for three days and fire themselves into orbit just 69 miles above the moon on Saturday.

They are to follow the trail blazed twice in the last seven months, by the pioneers of Apollo 8 and 10.

Sunday afternoon, Armstrong and "Buzz" Aldrin are to detach a lunar module and fly it down to a landing at the Sea of Tranquility. Early the next day they are to fulfill a centuries-old dream by walking on and exploring the lunar landscape.

Civil defense officials estimated more than a million persons, the largest crowd ever to witness a Cape Kennedy launching, cheered as the great rocket lifted away from earth.

Thousands had camped overnight on beaches and other vantage points. Roads were jammed early in the morning.

Among those who watched the start of the moon mission from Cape Kennedy were former President Lyndon B. Johnson, Vice President Spiro T. Agnew and Armstrong's wife, Janet, and their two sons, Eric, 12, and Mark, 6.

Also watching the start of the moon mission were Armstrong's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Stephen Armstrong in Wapakoneta, Ohio.

Mrs. Armstrong told newsmen she talked to her son the morning before launch.

"He was happy," she said. "His usual self. Just like he always is."

As the astronaut's parents spoke, one of the spacemen in the capsule told Mission Control: "It sure is clear down there. It's like sitting in your living room."

The astronauts go to the moon as men of peace, bearing the flags and messages of many lands.

They may not make it. For Apollo 11 is not only man's most ambitious space adventure but also the most dangerous.

The astronauts and space officials warned in advance that the flight might have to be aborted at any time, even up to the moment of lunar touchdown.
